According to Ayurved, physical diseases occur mainly owing to external factors like wrong diet or exposure to pathogens. Mental diseases arise mainly from internal factors, like wrong use of the senses and the increase of negative emotions. We ought to develop the habit of positive thinking. It has a good positive effect on our emotions. However, both physical and psychological diseases are usually mixed and one seldom occurs without the others.

7. What does the Ayurved say about physical diseases ?

8. What are the internal factors that arise the mental diseases ?

Ayurved recognizes four primary levels of healing: 1) Disease treatment 2) Disease prevention 3) Life Enhancement 4) Awareness development For most of us , medical treatment begins when we fall ill. It is a form of diseases treatment,a response to a condition that has already occurred. It aims at fixing something already broken. However , if medicine begins with the treatment of disease , it is a failure because the disease is already harming us. At this late stage, we are left with no option but using drugs and surgery, which may have many side effects in the long run.

9. Name various levels of Ayurvedic healings.

10. Mention disease treatment.
